

WRITING TASK

→ There are various types of cultural traits in our society. There are material traits, such as clothing, buildings, artwork, and written language. Also, there are non-material traits. Non-material traits are things such as religion, practices and beliefs (customs) and greetings such as bowing, bugging, and shaking hands.

The material cultural traits in our society are different from others in the world. The clothing we wear in our society is different from other societies' cultural <sup>traits</sup> because we wear sweatshirts, dresses, t-shirts, and jeans in different colors, while other societies may only wear black, and girls may have to wear cloth to cover their heads. Also our society may have a different written language than another, because our written language may be English, while
